“Project Management – An enabler to future proof your enterprise”

THE WESTIN, Hyderabad, India

Project Management Institute Pearl City Chapter (PMIPCC), Hyderabad will be hosting's Gyan Lahari 2016, its annual regional conference. Last year Gyan Lahari 2015 saw an amazing response from Project Management practitioners across diverse industries. The theme of this conference is "Project Management – An enabler to future proof your enterprise".

This one day professional event provides an opportunity for Project Management Practitioners across industries, government, academia, NGOs etc., to exchange ideas on the emerging trends in Project Management. The Conference explores how Project Management is core and essential to business success, how it helps organizations increase customer advocacy and retention, manage business uncertainty, foster innovation through disruption, leading to future growth and change. Project Management skills and methodologies can be leveraged by organizations to stay relevant and more responsive to the fast-changing business environment. It presents a great opportunity for you to learn from subject matter experts, specialists and peers.

PMIPCC is the chapter of PMI (Project Management Institute) representing the region of Telugu states namely Telangana and Andhra Pradesh for spreading awareness about project management. The Chapter was registered in 2001 and has a total membership of around 1,100 active members and much higher number of credential holders. It is run by a board comprising of professionals from various domains and industries. For spreading the PM understanding and to facilitate networking among the member community, the chapter conducts various programs and events and the PM conference is one among them. The Chapter had hosted the National conference in 2014 which was attended by more than 1000 professionals. It also held its annual PM conference in the name of GyanLahari 2015 which means "Knowledge Waves".
